

Gartzonika Konstantina

Konstantina Gartzonika, MD, PhD, Clinical Microbiologist, serves as Associate Professor of Microbiology, Faculty of Medicine, School of Health Sciences at the University of Ioannina, Greece. She graduated from the same School of Medicine in 1997 and received her PhD in 2004. She is the Head of the Department of Microbiology and she is in charge of the Reference Laboratory for the diagnosis of the COVID-19 cases in the region of Epirus and Northern Ionian Islands.

Her main academic and clinical interests focus on molecular detection of antimicrobial resistance genes, molecular epidemiology and monitoring of viral infections. She has authored and co-authored more than 75 peer-reviewed publications and she has presented her work in leading national and international conferences. She has also participated in clinical and laboratory programs including research on the microbiome.

Gartzonika Konstantina

Associate Professor of Microbiology